

HOPPE – Handle of excellence. New website now online

HOPPE's new website has now gone live on the Internet. The new site contains significantly more content than its predecessor. Visitors to "www.hoppe.com" can now not only find out a great deal of information about the company, standards and technical solutions – they can also access a wide-ranging product catalogue, for example.

Name of the picture:
HOPPE_new_website_EN.jpg

Since the start of July, the new HOPPE website has been giving visitors the opportunity to immerse themselves in the world of door and window hardware. One main change can be seen in the new and extensive product catalogue, which is ideal both for browsing and for searching for a specific product. The individual product pages present all the relevant information about the specific hardware. There is also direct access to the corresponding pictures and drawings as downloads.

In addition, the website provides detailed information about standards and technical solutions. Everything is explained clearly on the individual pages and videos invite visitors to take a closer look at the technical features.

Naturally, there is also much to find out about the company run by the owning family. The history of HOPPE, which stretches back over sixty years, and the value-based company leadership are just two examples of the interesting topics waiting to be discovered.

And there is plenty of evidence of the global appreciation of the "Handle of excellence" on the page for reference buildings.